The Perfect Mix

At One Square, we appreciate that the difference between a good bar and a great one is all in the details. From the Scottish Ionian marble on the bar to over 70 different varieties of gin proudly positioned behind it, we have spent considerable time perfecting the finer points. The same can be said of our cocktails, with a real emphasis on premium ingredients, well-crafted and served with style.

While gin is, as you may well have guessed, something of a house speciality, our wine list has also been expertly considered, with a concise selection of our favourite reds and whites available by the glass. Why not make yourself comfortable, choose a few dishes from our Small Plates menu and spend some quality time with us?

An Introduction to Gin

Invented in Holland around the 17th century, Genever was originally a medicinal remedy for all kinds of ailments and was later discovered by English troops fighting in the 80 year war who marvelled at the 'Dutch Courage' the elixir gave them. They brought the concoction home to London where it was refined and became gin. From Gin Lane to the 1920s speakeasies, Swinging London to Studio 54 – styles may have changed but gin remains as iconic as ever.

One Square Gin

It's no secret that gin is our passion at One Square, so when the opportunity arose to produce our very own small batch right here in Edinburgh we were most excited indeed. Of course, we were inspired by the 70 plus different varieties behind the bar, not to mention the many guests that have joined us for a G&T over the years. Starting with a traditional recipe, we got our heads together with our friends at Pickering's Gin at Summerhall and selected over 15 botanicals from across the world. After all, Edinburgh, and in particular the port of Leith, has a long and rich history of global trade, so we thought it only right that this should be reflected in the end product.

The result is a truly globetrotting gin, hand-made with only the finest natural ingredients. Mediterranean liquorice and orris root add a heady kick, while juniper and fragrant Scottish heather are harvested much closer to home. Notes of pink grapefruit, lime and anise are combined to create a citrusy, easy-drinking gin that refreshes and invigorates in equal measure.

Our Perfect Serve 13.00

A double measure served over ice, garnished with a sprig of clapped thyme and a grapefruit twist paired with Fever Tree natural tonic water.

Tonic Water at One Square

Tonic water has been drunk for centuries as a preventative for Malaria owing to the primary ingredient, quinine; a bitter alkaloid extracted from the bark of the Cinchona tree. It is said that the Spanish were the first to use the bark of the Cinchona tree in the early 1630s when the Countess of Chinchon contracted malaria.

SCHWEPPES 125ml 2.00
The oldest soft drinks company in the world, Schweppes was set up by young Swiss watchmaker and keen amateur scientist Jacob Schweppes back in 1783, when his carbonated water was used primarily for curing indigestion and gout. Since its humble beginnings Schweppes has become the largest supplier of tonic water in the world; and for many Schweppes is the 'T' in a G&T. A great match for mid-range gins that can hold their own against the lemon, sugars and quinine content of this tonic.

FENTIMANS TONIC 125ml 3.00
The bold and brazen flavour of lemongrass and quinine in Fentimans was made for one reason and one reason only... to mix with gin! A goal that they have most certainly achieved with a zesty tonic that is in fact a tiny bit alcoholic. Fentimans is best enjoyed with a big, flavourful gin.

FEVER TREE TONIC 200ml 3.00
The brainchild of Charles Rolls and Tim Warrilow, Fever Tree tonic was first released in 2005. Using spring water and 8 natural botanical flavours including quinine imported from Rwanda and the Congo, to the bitter oranges from Tanzania, has brought about a tonic of true quality that perfectly accompanies some of the gins we serve here at One Square. The tiny champagne-like bubbles that rise help to capture the aromas of the gins and enhance their natural taste. There are no artificial sweeteners, flavourings or reservatives used in the making of Fever Tree.

1724 TONIC WATER 200ml 3.50
An exciting addition to our already scintillating tonic selection, 1724 is a premium brand made with quinine from high on the Peruvian Inca trail, and pure Patagonian spring water. The 1724 of the name refers to the height above sea level (1,724 meters) at which the Cinchona tree – the naturally occurring source of quinine is harvested, making for a delicious, less bitter tonic with slight mandarin notes. Perfect with our premium gins, this could oh-so-easily be enjoyed.

WALTER GREGOR'S 200ml 3.50
A brand new truly Scottish gem. It's an all natural tonic water made using infused botanicals giving a clean, crisp taste. The farm where the tonic is produced is located in the historic parish of Pitsligo which stretches down to the Moray Firth coast.

The Perfect Serve

At One Square we take the humble gin and tonic seriously. Created to ensure that the troops stationed in India had their daily dose of quinine to keep Malaria at bay, gin is a complex and often misunderstood spirit. Here, we have taken the opportunity to highlight a few classic brands and some more contemporary suggestions to invigorate your senses.

SCOTTISH SERVES

PICKERING'S 1947 25ml 8.50
A single measure of this Scottish gem served in a chilled balloon glass, garnished with a slice of ginger and a stem of lemongrass topped with Fentimans tonic.

ARBIKIE KIRSTY'S GIN 50ml 14.50
A double measure of this amazingly complex gin served in a frozen balloon glass, garnished with fresh blueberries and a large lemon peel topped with Walter Gregor's tonic.

PORTER'S 50ml 14.50
A double measure of one of the smoothest gins in Scotland served over ice in a frosty balloon glass, garnished with pink peppercorn and lemon peel topped with 1724 tonic.

MINUS 33 25ml 9.00
A single measure of this unapologetically unconventional gin served in a chilled balloon, garnished with an orange wedge and hibiscus syrup topped with Fever Tree natural tonic.

LONDON SERVES

OXLEY 25ml 10.50
A single measure of the most innovative gin on the market served in a frozen balloon, garnished with a pink grapefruit wedge and topped with Fever Tree natural tonic.

EDGERTON 50ml 12.50
A double measure of this unusual pink gin served in an ice-filled balloon, garnished with edible flowers and topped with Fever Tree elderflower tonic.

SACRED 25ml 8.00
A single measure of this hand-made small batch gin served in an iced balloon glass, garnished with kaffir lime leaves and topped with Fentimans tonic.

INTERNATIONAL SERVES

FOUR PILLARS Australia 25ml 9.50
A single measure of the first small batch Aussie gin ever made served in a large iced balloon over ice, garnished with an orange wedge and topped with 1724 tonic.

DEATH'S DOOR USA 50ml 15.00
A double measure of this unique brand served in an ice-filled balloon, garnished with a slice of fennel and paired with Fentimans tonic.

BLIND TIGER IMPERIAL SECRET Belgium 25ml 16.00
A single measure of this very well balanced gin served in a chilled balloon, garnished with a lemon peel and a lemongrass stick, topped with Fever Tree natural tonic.

The Martini

MARTINEZ 10.00

Probably the forerunner of the Martini. The first known recipe of this drink appears in O.H. Byron's 1884 book The Modern Bartender. There are of course stories about where the name came from; some claiming it for the town of Martinez in California, others saying it was made for a customer who used to travel to the town during the 1849 gold rush.

We have to admit that we'll probably never know the true origin story of this beloved cocktail. But we think that's okay: it's so much more entertaining to dream up our own stories.

Bols Genever stirred down with Carpano Antica Formula sweet vermouth, Maraschino liqueur and orange bitters garnished with a generous orange twist.

GIN MARTINI 9.50

A popular myth suggests the Martini to have been created at the Knickerbocker Hotel NY by Martini di Arma di Taggia in 1912 although we believe this to be much too late. Moving on some years, we see the repeal of the prohibition in 20th century America which in turn marks a new era for gin and the Martini! This brings us to meet the Martini as we know it, as dry as you like and as eccentrically garnished to suit your palate.

Beefeater gin stirred down with Noilly Prat vermouth and garnished as you desire.

THE VESPER 11.00/13.50

Created by Gilberto Preti for author Ian Fleming and made famous by James Bond, initially sharp and hard faced but subtly softened with time, this modern classic is a beautiful metaphor of Bond's lover Vesper Lynd in Casino Royale. This one we will happily make 'shaken not stirred'.

A vigorous combination of Tanqueray gin, Absolut vodka and Lillet Blanc.

Why not try our Luxury Vesper in true Bond style with Oxley gin and Absolut Elyx vodka alongside Lillet Blanc and a lavish lemon twist? OR opt for Lillet Rouge for a deeper flavour.
